Participation. Contributed to the success of the simulation by attending all sessions, preparing outside of class, leading the assembly,
making prepared speeches,
and posing pertinent questions.
Persuasiveness. Presented convincing and well-organized arguments by articulating a clear, concise, and compelling claim, supporting the claim with ample evidence from our readings, and reiterating the claim in the conclusion of the speech.
Appropriateness. Spoke and acted in a suitable manner by demonstrating a clear understanding of character and historical context, addressing pertinent issues with suitable language and decorum, conveying an appreciation of and respect for the audience.
Delivery. Showed confidence and preparation through body language,
vocal inflection,
eye contact,
and sincerity or “ownership” of the argument.
