Orthography of the Hiphil for strong roots

The Hiphil binyan is one of the easiest to recognize because the verb is normally formed by the prefix of a he to the front of the verbal root. There are several instances where the he drops out, but these cases are predictable. Another identifying sign of the Hiphil is the /i/ class vowel between the second and third root letter—normally a hireq-yod (יְ .) unless there is some type of vowel reduction or the kitkat → katkat rule comes into play.

Perfect forms of the Hiphil for strong roots

The perfect is formed in the Hiphil by adding a prefixed he on the front of the root and a long /i/ vowel between the second and third root letters. The student should remember that the /i/ class vowel will become an /a/ vowel with the kitkat → katkat rule comes into play. The following is a summary of the Hiphil perfect for strong roots:

הִקְטִילְתִּי	1cs perf
הִקְטִילְתָּ	2ms perf
הִקְטִילְתְּ	2fs perf
הִקְטִיל	3ms perf
הִקְטִילָהּ	3fs perf
הִקְטִילְנִי	1cp perf
הִקְטִילְתֶּם	2mp perf
הִקְטִילְתֶּן	2fp perf
הִקְטִילוּ	3cp perf

Imperfect forms in the Hiphil for strong roots

The imperfect is a little more difficult to recognize than the Hiphil perfect inflection because the he prefix has syncopated between two vowel:

- In the Qal, one finds an imperfect form: יִקְטֹל
- In the Hiphil, the imperfect adds a he and a long /i/ vowel, but the he syncopates
 - יִ + הֶ + קְטִיל
 - he syncopates because it is between two vowels: יִ + הֶ + קְטִיל ← יִקְטִיל

This syncope or loss of the he explains why the he is found in the imperative and infinitive forms but not in the imperfect or participle. The following chart summarizes the imperfect inflection for strong roots in the Hiphil:

אֶקְטִיל	1cs impf
תִּקְטִיל	2ms impf
תִּקְטִילִי	2fs impf
יִקְטִיל	3ms impf
תִּקְטִיל	3fs impf
נִקְטִיל	1cp impf
תִּקְטִילוּ	2mp impf
תִּקְטִלְנָה	2fp impf
יִקְטִילוּ	3mp impf
תִּקְטִלְנָה	3fp impf

The participle forms of the Hiphil

Just like the imperfect, the he syncopates and drops out because it is surrounded by two vowels. Thus, the mem prefix has an /a/ vowel underneath it just like the preformative in the imperfect inflection has an /a/ vowel. The following chart summarizes these forms:

מִקְטִיל	ms part
מִקְטִילָה	fs part
מִקְטִילִים	mp part
מִקְטִילוֹת	fp part

The imperative and infinitive forms

Since the he syncopates in the imperfect, it is retained in the imperative form because the preformative from the imperfect inflection is not found. Likewise, the he is retained in the infinitive forms. The following table summarizes these forms:

הַקְטִיל	ms impv
הַקְטִילִי	fs impv
הַקְטִילוּ	mp impv
הַקְטִילְנָה	fs impv
הַקְטִיל	inf. constr
הַקְטִילְךָ	inf. (suff)
הַקְטִיל	inf. abs.

Summary of the orthography of the Hiphil binyan

The following features summarize the traits that easiest to identify in the Hiphil:

1. A prefixed he.
2. An /i/ class vowel between the second and third root letters (normally a hireq-yod (יְ) unless there is some type of vowel reduction or the kitkat → katkat rule comes into play).
3. In the imperfect inflection, an /a/ vowel is found under the preformative.

In the participle, an /a/ vowel is found under the mem preformative.

The meaning of the Hiphil binyan

The Hiphil normally transforms a verb that occurs in the Qal binyan into a causative verb, but there are at least 4 other usages as well.

1. Causative: This is the most frequent usage,

- Root מ-ל-ך
 - Qal: מָלַךְ “he reigned”
 - Hiphil: הִמְלִיךָ “he enthroned”
 - verse: 1 Kgs 1:43b: אֶת־שֹׁלֹמֹה : הִמְלִיךָ הַמֶּלֶךְ־דָּוִד “but our lord, David the king, has enthroned Solomon.”
- ש-מ-ע
 - Qal: שָׁמַע “he heard”
 - Hiphil: הִשְׁמִיעַ “he caused to hear; announced”
 - verse: Isa 30:30a קוֹלוֹ אֶת־תְּהִלָּתוֹ יְהוָה יְהִי־שְׁמִיעַ “and the LORD will cause the splendor of his voice to be heard...”

2. Express active ideas of verbs that are stative in Qal

- Root י-ט-ב

- יָטֵב “he was good”
 - הֵיטִיב “he did well”
- Root ק-ר-ב
 - קָרַב “he was near”
 - הִקְרִיב “he drew near”
3. Denominative: Just as we saw with the Piel binyan, the Hiphil can be used to express action with a commonly used noun
 - לָשׁוֹן “tongue” → הִלְשִׁין “he slandered”
 4. Declarative: Instead of expressing a causative action, the verb does more to declare that action (הִזְדַּיֵּק “he pronounced righteous...”)
