

The second step in the sequence below is an example of a rather startling process known as the Eschenmoser fragmentation. Provide a reasonable mechanism for each step of the process.

